Attorney's Clash. O., Oct. 18.—A lively illi- tr. Kline and Attorney Gen- created the first sensation at yesterday afternoon and don. Eng. He held 48,000 acres of land in central Illinois, 60,000 in Nebraska, 50,000 in Kansas and 40,000 in Missouri. He owned a house in Washington, D. C., and had lately been and made reference to am received by the attorney general stating that the Manhattan had sold out to the Standard for $2,000,000. He said it was "an infamous and dirty little trick" done to influence the jury by some one, he did not believe at this end of the line. Its absurdity, he said was apparent from the fact that the Manhattan was only capitalized for $150,000.

Attorney General Ellis interrupted with some warmth. "If the court please," he began, "I have sat silent under the most remarkable trade of abuse I have ever heard in my life. Mr. Kline attempts apparently to make it appear that the attorneys for the state have attempted in some way by a telegram to influence this jury. We have not presented any telegram to this jury or said anything about any telegram. I want to say to the court that there is not truth in the statement and I don't believe that counsel who makes it believes it."

Mr. Kline here interrupted and said that before the recess had been taken the prosecuting attorney had called him to the desk and asked if the jury could not be placed in charge of the bailiff, that a telegram had been received by the states attorney and would undoubtedly be published and might get into the hands of the jury. Prosecutor David broke in with the statement that the prosecution as was apparent, had tried to keep the matter away from the jury and that it was Kline who was making the telegram public.

Judge Barker remarked that he did not think proper to discuss the telegram and said he should instruct the jury not to regard it. "It is an insulting and infamous trade," broke in the attorney general, "and there is no truth in it."

"Who gave it to the public?" demanded Mr. Kline. "I want to know what kind of petty work there is going on here."

"The telegram came to me," responded the attorney general, "and one of my associates went to a newspaper man to ascertain if there was anything in it. We did not want it in this case. Mr. Kline put it in this case unprofessionally and he knows as a matter of fact that he has been guilty of a petty trick."

Mr. Kline said the fact remained that the telegram was given to the public by the prosecution, and that it was an absolute lie and entirely without foundation. The jur. was again instructed not to regard the telegram. In concluding, Mr. Kline said: "Are we to be convicted on guess work and inference or because some one thinks he has a grievance?"

ALL HOPE ABANDONED

French Newspapers Criticize Marine Minister for Neglect.

By Associated Press. Bizarta, Tunis, Oct. 18.—10:30 a. m.—The sunken submarine boat Lutin was located this morning by the tug Cyclops.

All Hope Abandoned. Paris, Oct. 18.—In spite of the fact that it was announced from Bizarta this morning that the position of the submarine boat Lutin sunk on Tuesday had been definitely ascertained, hope of rescuing her crew has been practically abandoned. In fact the prevailing impression is the crew were probably immediately killed or rendered unconscious by the accident, the cause of which, however, is still a mystery, thought theories on the subject are numerous.

Ministry Criticized. The ministry of marine is coming in for a lot of criticism owing to its failure to properly equip the Bizarta naval station with saving apparatus. Some of the newspapers express the opinion that the repeated accidents to submarine boats should lead to an inter-ference agreement to prohibit their use, avowing they are more dangerous to their crew than an enemy.

Will Start Investigation. Marseilles, Oct. 18.—Minister Thom as called for Bizarta today on the cruiser Jean de Arc, to supervise the efforts being made to raise the submarine boat Lutin. Before leaving Marseilles, the minister said he intended to make a personal inquiry into all the facts attending the disaster in order to determine the responsibility and to adopt measures to prevent a recurrence of a similar accident in the future.

British Ships Assist. The British battleship Implacable, the armored cruiser Carnarvon and the torpedo boat destroyer Albattross, have arrived here from the island of Malta to assist in raising the Lutin.

ANTI - LIQUOR

Women Presided Over by Westerner.

In the Absence of Lady Henry Somerset, Who is President.

GOVERNOR AND MAYOR

Welcomed the Delegates at the Opening in Boston Today.

Treasurer's Report Shows Net Receipts of Nearly $5,000.

By Associated Press. Boston, Oct. 18.—The annual business of the tricennial convention of the world's Women's Christian Temperance Union in this city began today. An early forenoon devotional service in the Park street church was followed by the opening of the convention proper in Tremont Temple the delegates being called to order by Miss Lillian Stevens of Portland, Ore., vice president of the W. C. T. U.

Lady Henry Somerset being detained at home by illness Vice President Miss Stevens will preside throughout the convention. The program provided that Governor Guild would welcome guests on the part of the state and Mayor Fitzgerald that of the city, before the roll call of members. The remainder of the day was to be taken up with organization and the reports of officers, committees and mission-aries.

This evening there will be a public meeting in the Tremont Temple at which addresses will be made by prominent foreign delegates.

Mrs. Stevens called the convention to order and after brief devotional exercises and the roll call of official members several committees were appointed. Mrs. Stevens then read a letter of greeting from Lady Henry Somerset of England, president of the World's W. C. T. U., who was unable to attend the convention.

Lady Somerset's Letter. The letter from Lady Henry Somerset, president of the World's W. C. T. U., which is dated October 2 and addressed to "My dear friends and comrades," says in part:

"My heart is with you today, on the opening morning of the convention of the World's Woman Christian Temperance Union and my memory goes back to the day in Faneuil Hall, when for the first time I came face to face with so many comrades, now well known and beloved friends. The tie that was formed so long ago has not loosened with years, but rather in the stress and strain of work has it been drawn closer."

"You come gathered from many countries, you bring to the convention experiences many and varied. You are glad to be refreshed by companionship, to learn from one another, and to get new inspiration from this great assembly. To protect the home, to banish the saloon, to shelter the weak, and to preserve the strong these are your intentions in your warfare against the liquor traffic. And there is another motive power, for it is the fulfilling of the will of God which gives the great impetus to your work, the fulfilling of his will as well in the legislative history of nations as in individual lives. This is the reason for our very existence as a great world wide society. It is the foundation upon which the whole structure of our temperance work is built."

"Nothing we believe today is more destructive to the well being of any people than the organized liquor traffic. Nothing makes it harder for men and women to fulfill the destiny for which God created them, nothing wastes resources and destroys home, more than the drink habit is the fatal heritage of nearly the whole civilized world."

"In your convention many subjects may arise over which you may differ or disagree, but I pray most of all for you, that the power of the spirit of the God may be in your midst. May there be with you a deep sense of that power. May the golden light of charity be found you as an anucleo, and may hand clasp hand in that loyal comradeship which gives united strength; and may this convention draw you closer to the unseen."

It was voted to send a cablegram to appreciation to Lady Somerset.

Mrs. Stevens announced that the representatives of the W. C. T. U. of different countries had presented to Lady Henry a bell to be placed in the chapel at London where she worships. The bell is already in place. A cable-gram from Lady Henry was read regarding this as follows:

"Grateful, humble, loving thanks for the silver toned verse."

Governor Guild then welcomed the delegates on behalf of the common-wealth and Mayor Fitzgerald for the city of Boston.

Treasurer's Report. The following report of Mrs. Mary Sanders, treasurer of the world's W. C. T. U. was presented to the convention:

The treasurer's report, covering the period from June 1, 1905, to May 31, 1906, showed net receipts $4,585, and disbursements of $3,843, and a balance of $2,378. SPECTATORS CHEER

While an Athletic Young Woman Thrashed a Cyclist.

COLLIDED WITH HER

But Didn't Hit Her Hard Enough to Subdue Her Spirit.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Miss Mae Eckert, a young woman who lives at the Berkeley hotel on Johnson's park, thrashed a cyclist to a finish at Delaware avenue and Chippewa street.

The bicyclist was so ashamed of his thrashing at the hands of a woman that he hurried away without telling his name. The fight lasted about three minutes, and attracted a crowd which cheered the woman.

Miss Eckert, as she afterward explained was on her way to her office at 15 west Chippewa street. She was crossing Delaware avenue at its intersection with Chippewa street when the cyclist turned a short corner, she charges. At any rate, all witnesses agree that he struck Miss Eckert and knocked her down. The man landed on the pavement with Miss Eckert, and the wheel on top of him.

Then the fellow recovered himself from the heap and made a dash up Delaware avenue, but Miss Eckert was quicker than he. Gathering her disheveled tresses about her she gave chase and overtook him. Then she beat him with fists and feet with great violence.

Several men who rushed to her assistance saw that she was having no trouble whipping the fellow, and cheered her on with the assurance that if he raised his hands against her they would help with the finishing touches. Stirred on the young woman wielded her white gloved hands the faster, until the fellow took to his heels. He came back after his wheel later. His victor rearranged her tresses, which had been disturbed during the conflict, and marched off muttering something about being brought up in a gymnasium.

NO CEMENT TRUST WILL EVER EXIST.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—A bulletin issued by the geological survey on the "Concentration of Cement Interests" declares "It can be said that there is noticeable a certain concentration of interests in the cement industry, and that this will probably become marked year by year. The eighty-eight plants in existence in 1905 are owned by seventy-eight companies, and several of these nominally independent companies are closely connected in ownership."

"The nature of the cement industry renders it improbable that any combination or non-competitive arrangement can be carried to such a point as to result in a monopoly of the industry and permanently high prices."

"Good raw materials are so widely distributed in the United States that there is hardly a county which could not produce Portland cement if prices were forced high enough. The only limitation now on the erection of cement plants is the fact that the great cost makes the ventures prohibitive for the individual or for the small firm."

THE CANADIAN

Arrived in the City at Noon Today

And Is in Fine Shape for His Contest With Akerman Tonight.

BARTL THE HEAVIEST

And Evidences Both Confidence and Determination to Win.

Akerman Returned From Cleveland Last Night and Is Ready.

Fred L. Bartl, the Canadian champion who is to wrestle Al Akerman at the Auditorium to-night, arrived in the city from his home, at Hamilton, Ont., at 12:40 o'clock this afternoon and is the guest at the Manhattan hotel. He appears to be in very fine condition and stated to those whom he met after his arrival that he never was in better condition than he is today.

Akerman returned home from Cleveland last evening and was also seen about town during the day. He is several pounds lighter than he was at the opening of the season when he wrestled with Atheros, the Frenchman, and will go on the mat at about 140 or 141 pounds to-night, while Bartl from ten or fourteen pounds heavier. The Canadian appears fresh and strong, and has a clear eye that leads one to believe he comes here with confidence and a determination to win. The contest will begin between 8:30 and 9 o'clock to-night and the advance seat sale indicates that there will be a large attendance of followers of the sport. There have been no wagers of any consequence posted so far as is known but the general opinion is that there should be no odds given on either man.

OBITUARY.

Mary Ellsena McCoy, eldest daughter of E. C. and Edna McCoy, was born January 7, 1884, at their late residence in Westminster and after a protracted sickness commencing with April last, passed to her heavenly home, October 12, 1896, aged 12 years, 9 months and 6 days. "Oh broken is the golden bowl. Let the spirit flow forever! Let the bells toll!"

A saintly soul floats on the stygian river. —Edgar Poe. Totty, her familiar name was a lover of the Sunday school and church with which she united in her eleventh year and has been a faithful member.

Through her long and painful sickness she was patient and considerate of her friends, she was a bright, loving and lovable child and will be greatly missed by all. She greatly appreciated the marks of love and friendship shown her during her suffering and her last thoughts were not for herself but for her weeping mother and friends.

How true are the words of the poet "Watts":

I gazed upon thy quiet face, half blinded by my tears, Till gleams of bliss, unfelt before, came brightening on my fears; Sweet rays of hope that fairer shone 'mid the clouds of gloom that bound them

As stars dart down their loveliest light when midnight skies are 'round them.

My sweet one, my sweet one, thy life's brief hour is o'er And a father's anxious fears for thee can never be no more!

And for the hopes, the sunbright hopes that blossomed at thy birth They too, have fled, to prove how frail are cherished things of earth."

The funeral services took place Sunday afternoon from the home at 1:30 and from the Salem M. church at 2:30, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Smith, assisted by Rev. Ewing, of the Protestant Methodist church. A very large congregation gathered showing their sympathy towards the bereaved, one half of whom could be accommodated by the church. The offering of flowers were profuse and very beautiful. Everything seemed to be done that could show sympathy and render comfort.

The choir rendered appropriate music. The pall bearers were Sunday school girls, members of her class.

The sermon topic was preached from 1 Sam. 3:18: "It is the Lord let him do what seemeth Him good."

Among the relatives that were present from a distance were Mr. McCoy's mother, two brothers and a sister, from Van Wert, O., and a brother from Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Of Mrs. McCoy's relatives from a distance were her father and mother, five sisters, two uncles, one aunt and two cousins from Van Wert, O., and a host of relatives from the surrounding neighborhood.

The day was ideal and everything was so carefully prepared that there was nothing to disturb the solemn occasion.

Quinsy, Sprains and Swellings Cured. "In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinsy. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a salve and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale by all druggists.

Travis Won Easy Victory Over Byers.

Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 18.—Walter J. Travis, of the Garden City Golf club, gave E. M. Byers, of Pittsburg, the present national title holder, one of the fiercest defeats that the latter has sustained in several years in a thirty-hole contest at the Myopia Hunt club yesterday afternoon. Travis led from the start, and at the end of the first round was five up. Byers steadied in the afternoon play, but could not overcome the long lead, and Travis ended the contest on the thirteenth green, seven up and five to play. The match ended the three days' invitation tournament.

Garden City, L. I., Oct. 18.—Yale and Princeton fought it out for this year's team championship honors of the Intercollegiate Golf association on the Garden City links and Yale won.

PREACHING THAT DRAWS EDU-CATED MEN.

The Rev. George Hodges, in a recent address to the students of the Berkeley Divinity school, warned them not to be "misled by any rumor that the congregation is weary of doctrinal sermons." He added that the reason why lawyers, doctors, teachers, writers, and men of affairs whose business demands more than routine use of the intellectual powers often seem so benevolently indifferent to the church is to be found in part in the decay of the doctrinal sermon.

These statements are true, nor is the reason of their truth far to seek.
Men of education and intellectual activity are not really irreligious. Their faith is generally stronger and more consistently lived than that of most professing church members. It is because of their intellectual activity, a reasoned faith, not accepted at second hand, but thought out, each man for himself—the fruit of reflection working upon observation and experience.

But such men are often benevolently indifferent to organized Christianity. It is there. They accept it as a useful social institution, and commonly contribute to its material support, but they often do not frequent its services or take part in its practical work because the expositions of its faith from its pulpit offer them nothing which they cannot obtain more conveniently elsewhere.

It is hopeless for the pulpit to seek to win such men by discourses on art, science, or literature. They either know more about these subjects than the minister does, or have more time to pursue them than he can have, or in any case they know that the minister is not likely to be a first hand authority on them. And they are accustomed to going to first hand authorities and original sources for guidance on subjects in which they are really interested.

They are interested in religion. Every man who is really educated is. But because of their constant use of their reasoning powers they want reasons for what they are asked to believe. All their mental habits of life deter them from accepting unsupported assertions. They do not care for merely dogmatic sermons. They cannot be led to active belief merely because some other man up in a pulpit, commonly of fewer years, less experience, and smaller learning, save in one special field, than they possess, tells them they should so believe.

With such men the preacher has no sacrosanct character. He may be liked and respected as a man, but as a preacher he is judged by them as they judge each other—by his knowledge in his own field and by his skill in using it. And the preacher's field is theology—the science of divine things, the science which formulates doctrines and makes faith intelligible —the science which finds reasons for faith. When the preacher goes outside his field they think of him as of a doctor who would pose as a lawyer who would attempt an operation in major surgery.

The minister is assumed to be a student of doctrine. His education is supposed to have trained him in research of the documents and evidence of religion, natural and revealed, and to have equipped him with ability to say what this evidence is and what it means to those trained to weigh it. When he preaches on the lines of his special training he is bound to preach doctrinal sermons.

And if to unshaken and unshakable faith the preacher add ability to give reasons which appeal to intelligence for his faith, he will never lack intelligent and educated men as hearers. He gives them what they want—the reasons of a trained reasoner on the points at issue for the faith they have or are seeking.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Dynamite, Powder and Gasoline Each Play a PartIn the Most Terrible Accident the Town Has Ever Experienced.

By Associated Press.

Ft. Recovery, O., Oct. 18.—It is thought today that it was dynamite in Meinertings' hardware store that exploded, Wednesday afternoon, that caused the death of four persons, one woman and three men and the injury of 25 or 30 others. It is not known what caused the dynamite to blow up but it is thought that it started in the printing office next door, where A. A. Kulp publishes the Fort Recovery Journal and that the fire caused the dynamite to let go. There was a gasoline engine in the printing office and the gasoline may have exploded first. According to the statement of the hardware owner there was between 15 and 20 pounds of dynamite in the rear of the store from 15 to 20 barrels of oil and a can of powder. He was not in the store at the time of the explosion, but was at the horse show about four blocks away.

Everything in the village is still in confusion Thursday morning. Dr.
Richardson, the coroner, is still here and continuing his examination, but he has not been able to learn definitely the cause of the accident.

The four who were killed, Miss Cleo Wise, Henry Lammers, Jos. Rosener and Chas. Wagner, were all employed in the hardware store. Miss Wise was the bookkeeper. She was about 22 years old. Lammers was about the same age. Rosener was 45 and Wagner about 40. He was burned to a crisp.

John O. Mullen, who was the most seriously hurt was still alive this morning, but his death is only a question of a few hours. One of his legs was torn from his body, an arm was broken and he was terribly bruised and cut. He and his wife were in the store at the time of the explosion, but the wife was not seriously hurt.

Among the others who were injured are D. Kidder, of Salamonia, Ind.; Henry C. Laughman, Mrs. Geo. Record
Albert Resher, Henry Clangman, B. W.
Cunningham, W. C. Jordan, Henry Blackmann, Frank Rosener, Edward Klester and Mrs. Treichard. None of these, it is thought, will die from the effects of their injuries. There were several others hurt, but none so seriously as those whose names have been given.

Mrs. Treichard was in the hardware store. She was hit by flying glass.
One large sharp piece struck her throat and made an ugly gash near the jugular vein.

There was a horse show being held in the village at the time.

Many farmers had driven into the village from the surrounding country and had hitched their horses all along the street where the accident happened and on the adjoining streets.
Nearly everybody in town was out, also, and the streets were crowded with people.

When the explosion occurred the whole town was shaken. The printing office collapsed and two printers were caught in the ruins, but they were rescued. Nearly all the plate glass in town was shattered, including the leaded glass in the windows of the Catholic church two blocks away.

Several horses, frightened by the explosion, broke away and dashed in every direction. Many men risked their lives to catch the animals and did so before they did much damage.
A blacksmith shop near the hardware store collapsed and Albert Resher.

THE STAGE.

"How Hearts are Broken," a new and highly sensational drama which comes to the Faurst Opera House, Saturday afternoon and evening is claimed to be one of the most successful plays that has thus far been seen this season. Critics have spoken of it as a stormy story of the soul and a play that is life itself.

By Associated Press.
Canton, Oct. 18.—Secretary Hartzel of the McKinley National Memorial Association Thursday gave out the following statement showing that the association has paid all the expenses since its organization has accumulated a profit of more than $8,000 from interest in the meantime:

At the last meeting of the McKinley National Memorial Association, held at Canton, Ohio, Messrs. Haskins and Sells certified public accountants of New York, submitted an elaborate report of their audit of the books and the accounts of the association from its incorporation to and including June 30th, 1906. From the report the following facts are given for publication.

"All contributions as shown by the records have been accounted for and all disbursements of the funds of the association have been made upon properly authorized vouchers.

"The interest securities owned and on deposits and the profits from investments exceeded by over $9,000 the total disbursement in connection with the collection and administration of the funds of the association.

"All the trustees have served without compensation and have themselves paid the traveling and other expenses incurred in such service."

"The reports show total contributions of $556,544.23 to which should be added interest on investments and bank deposits and profits on investments the sum of $74,062.50 making the total receipts $630,606.73. out, but until now no other solution for more room could be found. By the failure of the Oak some months ago, it became possible to purchase the lease on the three stories of this Wheeler block, and also that for the second, third and fourth floors of the Tigner block making the connection. Entrances will be cut through into both of these blocks and these three floors added to the hotel proper under a long period of rental.

The new portions will give twenty-two additional rooms, all of which will be entirely remodeled, fitted with steam and electric lights. Work on this is expected to be started next week, and will require a period of two months.

Demand for hotel accommodations has gradually increased in this city during the past year or more, and the Lima House and Norval both turn guests away almost nightly, after 8 o'clock.

HIS HONOR
Would Not Part With Relativity of Cresceus.

Toledo horsemen, while at the Lima races, made a hard attempt to secure what promises to be a star future performer in a three-year-old gelding owned by Mayor Robb, Lima's city executive, but without success. The gelding's sire is Robb Raymond, a half brother of the famous Cresceus, both sired by Robert McGregor, while the youngster's dam is an untracked brood mare, a granddaughter of the great Electioneer, dam Esperanza. Mayor Robb's gelding is a dark chestnut, without a blemish, of fine temperament, and although never tracked, has shown some marvelous bursts of speed. The present owner refuses to track the youngster.—Toledo Blade.

An early dispatch received here this morning contained the very unpleasant information that Mr. and Mrs. A. L. The seriousness of the accident was greatly intensified through the further information that two people were killed and several injured. That the Lima passengers escaped with but slight injuries was later verified in a message received by one of Mr. White's business associates.

Copenhagen, Oct. 18.—Prince Waldemar, of Denmark, and Prince George of Greece, started this morning via Naples on an eastern trip from which they possibly will return by way of America.

WENT ON A PICNIC DRANK A STINGER.

New London, Conn., Oct. 18.—One New London woman who is fond of outings in the open is likely to be careful how she drinks from a bottle, even when there is nothing stronger than cold tea or coffee in the bottle, in the future. A few days ago with a companion she took a lunch out on a projecting ledge of rocks at Ocean Beach and when lunch time came the food and liquid refreshments were opened and the meal commenced.

Each of the picnickers had a bottle of tea or coffee and from this moistened their meal with old fashioned swigs which had a greater relish from their unconventionality. When the young women were observing the view across the sound an investigating wasp appeared and, scenting the sweetened coffee, dove down the neck of the bottle and was hidden from view when the maiden next upturned the glass receptacle.

She was not long in ignorance of the wasp's proximity, however, as she felt some strange body pass out of the bottle into her mouth and at first thought she had cut her lip on the edge of the bottle. Just as precaution, however, she shut her teeth together and succeeded in dividing the wasp at his slender waistline. The business end of the insect remained outside her teeth and she succeeded in expectorating the rest of the insect with the exception of his stinger, which remained in her lip and had to be extracted by her companion.
